Studio Storage

Case study

We helped the Royal College of Art transform their new flagship building in Battersea, London. A series of bespoke labs desks and studio storage solutions were installed in the Rausing Research and Innovation Building studios, home to a series of RCA graduate start-up businesses.

Studio Storage

Case study

We collaborated with the Education First design team on their Zurich Headquarters. Our High Studio Storage was supplied to divide their open plan office space into smaller working and meeting spaces.

The High Studio Storage runs parallel within the open plan design, offering clutter free storage away from desking, without the need for fixed joinery. With this future-proof approach the Studio Storage can easily be reconfigured to change the layout. Our Planters were included to further define the space.
